A spoof on the Nancy Drew mystery genre, Capable Nancy Prew finds herself drawn into mysterious circumstances as she is transported into the future 30 years. She battles her greatest mystery as an evil group attempts to bring back the “good old fashioned family values” of the 1950’s Ozzie & Harriet world, to today’s youth. This play couldn’t be more topical in today’s changing conservative political climate! This play is produced in an episodic format, written in three chapters, a different chapter each week. Come for a single episode or get hooked and see all three!

Tickets available at Little Sisters, Tech Direct PC, and at www.screamingweenie.com
